Camino García is Director of Institutional Relations and Communication of AEFA (Spanish Association of Agronutrient Manufacturers) since September 2018, where she coordinates and manages all the activities of the association and represents it before the Administration and Organizations in all forums of the agrarian sector.

Agronomist from the Polytechnic University of Madrid, mother of three young children who take up most of her spare time, she is aware of the need to include technical development, research, and biotechnology in plant nutrition. Before AEFA, she worked for 10 years as a consultant providing technical assistance for the Agriculture Ministry in Tragsatec on issues related to the European Common Agricultural Policy. A lover of travelling, she hopes that we will soon be able to return to normality and enjoy other cultures again after these difficult years.
