

Julia Emanuela

Julia Emanuela MBA is Agricultural Engineer, graduated from the University of Brasília - UNB and Missouri State University -MSU/USA. She is also specialist in Plant Health from the Federal University of Viçosa - UFV.

Currently, she is responsible for Regulatory Affairs of Biological products at CropLife Brasil and coordinates the Biological Regulatory Committee, in addition to coordinating many working groups focused on technical improvement, encouraging modernization, and reducing bureaucracy of regulatory frameworks based on science and respect for intellectual property.

CropLife Brasil is a recognized entity in the agro sector that unifies the experience of different segments that work in research, development and innovation in the areas of seeds, biotechnology, plant protection and digital agriculture.